CONFERENCE PROGRAM

There will be plenary sessions each day, around 15 parallel sessions, poster sessions, an exhibition and a course program.

The invited speakers (about 150+) will be leading researchers within the topics above. Among the speakers you will find famous Nobel Laurates in Physics or Chemistry. The presentations will cover the latest research results in the nano, surface and materials sciences for example nanowires, bio-nanosystems, new material for data storage in novel computers and frontline development in catalytic processes.
